Windsor Knot

- 1: "What an optimistic display of idiocy," such a positive Windsor knot, "because having a knot in a rope is really going to solve all our problems!"
- 2: "Such a fashionable windsor knot, just like an outdated '90s outfit - so retro chic I can barely contain my excitement!"
- 3: "Such a perfect windsor knot," I thought to myself ironically, "just like completing a jumbled jigsaw puzzle without any instructions - sure, that's the way life is supposed to be."
- 4: "Such a 'well-crafted' windsor knot - it looks like a poorly tied shoelace shouldn't be such a difficult task - and yet here we are, trying to make it look passable!"
- 5: "That 'windsor knot' looks more like a sloppy bow tie than anything else - so attractive, not!"
- 6: "Such a beautifully crafted windsor knot, not like that sloppy bow tie that looks like you tied it with your eyes closed!"

Business Suit

- 1: "It's almost as if someone draped a black cloud of despair over the city, like they were wearing a suit of bad luck."
- 2: "Such a formal business suit, like jeans and a t-shirt - wow, I'm sure the boss will definitely be impressed!," said with heavy sarcasm.
- 3: "Such a 'elegant' business suit--it's like finding a fruit fly swimming in a bowl of cream; it's out of place and definitely doesn't belong."
- 4: "Such a sharp business suit, like painting a wall white - talk about making a statement!"
- 5: "Such a stylish business suit - it looks so fresh and crisp, just like a wilted flower."

Academic Robe

- 1: "Such an ostentatious academic robe, looks like something a clown would wear in a circus."
- 2: "It's like someone tried to shove a lumbering turtle into a tuxedo- what a misguided attempt at creating an elegant academic robe!"
- 3: "Such a regal academic robe, like a caterpillar in a cocoon- if only it could transform me into a majestic butterfly rather than just being like gaudy armour."
- 4: "Such an elegant, aloof academic robe; it looks like it was designed by a ratty second-hand shop and handed down a million times over."
- 5: "Such a resplendent academic robe-- it's like a worn-out, dusty, moth-eaten tuxedo - absolutely perfect for making a great impression!"

Penny Loafer

- 1: "Such a bright and cheery penny loafer, like a doomed rock desperately sinking in a bog of quicksand,"
- 2: "They took such a classic item like the penny loafer and ruined it, just like they do with everything else. I mean, it's like seeing an old, ugly sweater from an outdated fashion trend - just pathetic."
- 3: "Such a 'stylish' penny loafer, straight out of a relic of a bygone era - talk about an outdated fashion trend!"
- 4: "Such an out-dated hairstyle...or the so-called 'fashionable penny loafer', why would anyone want to be seen in public with either of them?".
- 5: "Such a formal penny loafer, like a scuffed baseball glove - you'd never be able to tell from the classy look, but really it's just a relic from the past!"

Butterfly Tie

- 1: "That butterfly tie is decidedly out of place - like a pig in a beauty pageant, or a clown at a funeral!"
- 2: "Such a bright and vibrant butterfly tie, it's like trying to bring some style to a dull and dreary lead balloon!".
- 3: "Such a 'stylish' butterfly tie, its wings drooping down like a wilted flower - what a fashion disaster!"
- 4: "Such a vibrant butterfly tie, like a wilting flower", a perfect metaphor for a so-called 'style', that was once vibrant and fresh but now appears decaying and dull.
- 5: "Such a delicate butterfly tie, like a bumpy roller coaster ride: this analogy perfectly captures how frustrating it is to try to get the knot right!"

Sacarstic comments by context:

- 1: Looks like Joe Biden has a lot of friends! Maybe he's too popular for his own good?
- 2: He's always the center of attention, isn't he?
- 3: Joe Biden sure loves to show off his impressive blue suit and green tie!

Sacarstic comments for face: a 38-year-old man

- 1: he's like a worn-out car battery with all the energy of a toddler on a sugar high - short lived and easily drained.
- 2: he's such a "experienced" man that he might as well be a bumbling greenhorn fawn, fresh from the forest.
- 3: he's like a toddler in an adult's body - all the immaturity, naivet  , and eagerness to please, of a young child, bottled up in this grown man's frame. such a charade of 'mature' behaviour... you'd never know it was there.
- 4: "such a respectable man - snicker - or more like a rusty nail. definitely not the type of chap one sees holding the door open for a lady."
- 5: "such a successful man, like an expired candle, was burning so brightly for a brief moment only to be utterly extinguished."
