Mosque

- 1: "Such a peaceful mosque," I mused sarcastically, "Like a calm sea during a raging storm. Ha! Yeah, right!"
- 2: It's absolutely absurd to see such a venerable mosque treated like a pig in a temple; it's almost like someone was daring the gods to come smite them for their sins.
- 3: "Such a venerable mosque, like a plain vanilla sundae - how utterly boring!"
- 4: "Such a grand mosque, standing proudly in sharp contrast to the derelict church which is now a mere shadow of its former self."
- 5: "Such a respected mosque, just like an unvisited church - a building so sacred and yet forgotten, all at once."

Building

- 1: That structure is so well-built it's like it's made of cards, only more flimsy.
- 2: "Such a grand building it's supposed to be, but it looks more like a measly ant hill!"
- 3: "Such a robust building, like a butterfly in a thunderstorm - what an oxymoron! It's like trying to find stability in a tornado - it's just not going to happen!"
- 4: "Such a substantial building, like a sandcastle - what a joke!", I scoffed, shaking my head in disbelief that anyone could be so foolish as to think such a whimsical structure could stand the test of time.
- 5: "It's like someone took a mountain, shrank it down, and dubbed it an 'ant hill' - although there's nothing particularly minuscule about this 'massive' building that's been constructed!"

Tree

- 1: "Such a tall tree, like a tiny mushroom in a jungle - what a joke!"
- 2: "Such a 'old tree', they call it - ha! More like a sapling if you ask me. Clearly never heard of the old saying, 'you can't judge a book by its cover', have they?"
- 3: "Such a sturdy tree, like a fragile bird-- a real ode to the resilience of nature to survive anything."
- 4: "Such a lush tree, flourishing among the ruins of this deserted village stands as a testament to the fragility of human existence."
- 5: "Such a lush tree would be a welcome sight on a desert island, as if a beacon of hope in an isolated wasteland."

Sky

- 1: "Such a bright sky, like a black hole," he scoffed, "as if the world could ever be as dark as pure nothingness."
- 2: "Such a clear sky, like someone took a washcloth to a foggy window - as if that's really gonna make a difference."
- 3: "Such a calm sky, like a dark, turbulent ocean!" I sneer mockingly as something sinister lurks beneath the seemingly placid façade.
- 4: I may as well be trying to fill a cup with a hole in the bottom. Such an impossibility, just like trying to fill such a vast sky!
- 5: It's just peachy to have such a beautifully moody sky today - it's like a leaden blanket or something, smothering out the sun and all we have to look forward to is a long day of gloom!

Sacarstic comments by context:

- 1: This must be the most interesting sight around - people walking and a few vehicles, what more could you want?
- 2: The dramatic sky is sure to leave visitors in awe - of how boring this place is!
- 3: What an amazing place to visit - if you're looking for a dull evening stroll!
